Daly artwork explores homelessness and prejudice

PBS film with a Port connection

Jimmy Mirikitani, the subject of the film The Cats of Mirikitani, is a fiercely independent 87-year-old Japanese-American artist who lost his family and friends to the United States' internment camps during World War II and the atomic bombing of Hiroshima. He survived the trauma of those two events and homelessness by creating artwork.

After seeing the film, Daly Elementary School's music teacher Dr. Ruth Addeo discovered that Jimmy Mirikitani is her father's cousin, whom all family members had believed to be dead.

The film will be shown Friday, May 9 at 7:30 p.m. The screening will be hosted by filmmaker Linda Hattendorf, who has worked in the New York documentary community for more than a decade.

Daly School students will display artwork celebrating the film, as well as the themes of "homelessness" and "prejudice." The work will hang in the Community Gallery on the upper level and in the Children's Room.

The Unreleased Beatles

On Friday, May 2 at 7:30 p.m., Richie Unterberger discusses his latest book The Unreleased Beatles: Music and Film. The book chronicles the incredible wealth of music that the Beatles recorded but did not officially release, beginning with the day that John Lennon met Paul McCartney in July of 1957, through the sessions that led to the break-up of the Beatles in 1970.

Unterberger will share the cream of this unheard material, as well as incredible film footage of the group that remains commercially unavailable. Much can be learned about the Beatles from the unreleased studio out-takes, BBC radio recordings, live concert performances, home demos, private tapes, fan club Christmas flexi-discs, and other informal recordings done outside of EMI studios that remain unreleased, but which have escaped into circulation.

Unterberger is the author of Turn! Turn! Turn!: The '60s Folk-Rock Revolution and its sequel, Eight Miles High: Folk-Rock's Flight from Haight-Ashbury to Woodstock. His book Unknown Legends of Rock 'n' Roll and its sequel, Urban Spacemen & Wayfaring Strangers, profile the most interesting cult rock acts of all time. He has also written thousands of album reviews and artist biographies for allmusic.com.
