Issue No. 221, Summer 2007

WAY OFF BROADWAY: THE LIAR SHOW: Join us on Friday, July 20 at 8 p.m. for The Liar Show: 4 storytellers, 3 true stories, 1 pack of lies. Four of New York's fastest talkers tell stories that will make you laugh, think, or just glad that you're not them. Listen carefully, because only three of these basically honest people are telling the truth. When all the stories have been heard, you'll question the storytellers — consider it a mini-interrogation minus the electrodes. Spot the phony and win an "I Can Tell a Lie" t-shirt. The Liar Show is the newest addition to New York City's growing storytelling scene, where national organizations like The Moth have brought to the stage an oral tradition that was born around the campfire and the kitchen table. The Liar Show brings something a little different to that table. James Braly, Ophira Eisenberg, Steve Osborne and Peter Lubell will tell tales for our audience. Andy Christie is creator and host.

John Murello's Faded Glories on exhibit

Aristotle wrote, "The aim of art is to represent not the outward appearance of things, but their inward significance." Sea Cliff resident John Murello looks beyond the obvious to capture the inner beauty of objects. Using a computer, he has created images without a camera by scanning such ordinary objects as flowers, leaves, grasses and detritus directly on a flatbed scanner.

Many of the images are captured in varied stages of decay, changing as they age, taking on unique qualities. Once in the computer, the images are tweaked in Photoshop. His work hangs in the Photography Gallery beginning July 6. Meet the artist at a reception on Friday, July 13 at 7 p.m. Co-sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

Murello writes, "Our world is suffused with beauty. But we have a tendency to overlook the ordinary, and therefore we miss much.

There is beauty in all of creation; all we have to do is take the time to look at our natural surroundings. The common objects that are scanned no longer seem lifeless, but have taken on a loveliness of their own."

A graphic designer, commercial and fine art photographer, John Murello was an art director at RCA Records, Verve Records and Dell Publishing. As a freelance designer and photographer, his clients included Random House, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Harper & Row, Time-Life Books, New American Library, MGM Records and Films, Adelphi University, Putnam/Penguin Books and Queensborough Community College.

His award-winning work has appeared in national and international graphic publications, and he has exhibited extensively across Long Island.

Summer schedule

Beginning July 7, we'll be open from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturdays. We're closed on Sundays throughout the summer. Our full weekend schedule resumes after Labor Day.

Borrow a bag of books

Stop by or call the Information Desk (Ext. 136), answer a few questions, and we'll put together some summer reading sure to entertain you.

Going on vacation?

Vacation loans are available for Port Washington cardholders with a clear library record. Some restrictions apply. Details at the Information Desk.

Teen job listings

The library will host the Port Washington Youth Council's Teen Employment Bulletin Board of summer job listings beginning in July. If you're looking for student help this summer, contact Marianne Hart at 944-7625.

Library at the LIRR

Library service to Long Island Railroad commuters resumes July 11. The library will be on-site at the station Wednesday mornings (weather permitting) from 7 to 9 a.m. through September 5. A collection of popular paperbacks will be available. You don't need a library card; after 14 days, simply return the books to the library table at the station on Wednesday mornings or to the library anytime.

Ken Kresge Trio

Did you dig the cool boogaloo music of the sixties? The classic sound of Funky Broadway? Or the soulful grooves of Wes Montgomery and James Brown? The Ken Kresge Organ Trio will play it all at our Way Off Broadway program on Friday, August 17 at 8 p.m.

Attention book clubs

We're looking for a group of people who might be interested in cruising and discussing — Booked to Go! Library staff will organize and facilitate the cruise and discussions — you only need to let us know if you have preliminary interest! Contact Lee Fertitta (Ext. 135) or Jessica Ley (Ext. 123). Our plan is to take a cruise in early 2008.

A SoundSwap summer with local musicians

The alt-folk of Miles to Dayton, the blues stylings of Phil Minissale, and the melodic prog-rock of The Third Wave will fill the library during a summer SoundSwap schedule that highlights some of Long Island's best songwriters and music-makers.

Miles to Dayton, who perform on Thursday, July 19 at 8 p.m., released their second full-length album, RISE, on June 21. The group's exquisite harmonies, intricate rhythms and soaring violin make M2D, as they are coming to be known, a unique and uplifting live music experience.

The talented brother-sister duo of Dave and Krista March, with musical journeyman Jonathan Preddice, combine to bring an honest, heartfelt message of love, life and laughter to each performance.

Phil Minissale, who joins us on Friday, August 3 at 12:10 p.m. and again at 8 p.m., has been influenced by the likes of Bob Dylan, Toby Walker, John Hammond and Chris Smither. He is on a crusade to introduce the blues to younger audiences, feeling that "cats may age know nothing about roots music, and that's a shame." Long Island-born Minissale grew up in Eastern Pennsylvania, but returned here in 2006. Within a few short months, Phil became a crowd favorite at folk societies and coffee houses across the island. Audiences find that his instinct for finding new melodies is far beyond his years.

The Third Wave, who visit on Thursday, August 16 at 8 p.m., is comprised of Dave Evangelista, Dan Rovere and Terry Klemenson. This melodic progressive-rock trio melds influences that range from The Beatles, The Who, ELP, Elton John and Traffic to King Crimson, Miles Davis, John Coltrane and John McLaughlin. This combination of elements, reflected on their soon-to-be-released second album for SRO Records, makes for an original sound that music fans who own CDs by any or all of those artists will surely enjoy.

Join us in our support of Long Island's music-makers. Performances are funded, in part, by the Friends of the Library.

Director honored with fellowship

Library director Nancy Curtin has been chosen as a Fellow to participate in the Lifelong Access Institute sponsored by the American Council for Libraries. The Institute will focus on libraries as centers of lifelong learning and civic engagement and will introduce participants to Lifelong Access, a new framework for working with active older adults, which is based on an understanding of older adults as resources for their communities.

Twenty Fellows were selected from a field of more than 70 applicants. They come from 14 states, representing public libraries providing services to communities as small as Reading, Massachusetts, and as large and urban as San Francisco. The Fellows were selected for their commitment to furthering their libraries' work with active older adults.

The Institute will be held from July 29 through August 3 at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.
