

Meet bestselling novelist Lauren Belfer

The author of A Fierce Radiance and City of Light returns with And After the Fire

Join the Friends of the Library on Tuesday, June 14 at 7:30 p.m. for a special evening with author Lauren Belfer.

The New York Times-bestselling author of A Fierce Radiance and City of Light returns with a powerful and passionate new novel—inspired by historical events—about two women, one European and one American, and the mysterious choral masterpiece by Johann Sebastian Bach that changes both their lives.

In Berlin, in 1783, aristocrats and commoners alike frequent the city's glittering salons. Christians and Jews mingle freely, despite simmering anti-Semitism. Sara Itzig Levy, a renowned musician, conceals the manuscript of an anti-Jewish cantata by Johann Sebastian Bach, an unsettling gift to her from Bach's son, her teacher. This work and its disturbing message will haunt Sara and her family for generations to come.

In the ruins of Germany in 1945, American soldier Henry Sachs takes a souvenir, an old music manuscript, from a seemingly deserted mansion and mistakenly kills the girl who tries to stop him.

In America in 2010, Henry's niece, Susanna Kessler, struggles to rebuild her life after she experiences a devastating act of violence on the streets of New York. When Henry dies soon after, she uncovers the long-hidden music manuscript. She becomes determined to discover what it is and to return it to its rightful owner, a journey that will challenge her preconceptions about herself and her family's history—and also offer her an opportunity to finally make peace with the past.

Interweaving the stories of Susanna, Sara and their families, And After the Fire traverses two hundred years of history, from the eighteenth century through the Holocaust and into today, seamlessly melding past and present, real and imagined. Lauren Belfer's deeply researched, evocative and compelling narrative resonates with emotion and immediacy.

Lauren Belfer is from Buffalo, NY. At Swarthmore College, she majored in Medieval Studies. She holds an M.F.A. from Columbia University. In addition to her three novels, Belfer's fiction has been published in the Michigan Quarterly Review, Shenandoah, and Henfield Prize Stories. Her nonfiction has appeared in the New York Times Book Review, Washington Post Book World and the Christian Science Monitor. She lives in New York City.

Ms. Belfer will be interviewed by Keith Klang, the Library's Head of Adult Services.

Copies of And After the Fire will be available for purchase and signing. Refreshments will be served.

In the Karen and Ed Adler Gallery

Ginger Balizer-Hendler

The Art Advisory Council welcomes Long Island-based artist Ginger Balizer-Hendler, who will exhibit She's a Rainbow in the Adler Gallery from June 1 through 30.

Balizer-Hendler studied English and Theater Arts at SUNY New Paltz, and interior design at LIU Post and the New York Institute of Technology. She studied painting at the Nassau County Museum of Art and the Art League of Long Island. She integrates her fascination with theater and design into her work, imbuing it with fanciful strokes of color and whimsy.

Balizer-Hendler's work often explores narratives that obscure what lies beneath the surface. Embellishments such as found objects and collage invite us to look deeper. The layering is symbolic of the many faces we wear: our emotions, public and private personas and the subconscious.

In 2012, Balizer-Hendler's mixed media piece, Mother Earth's Party Dress, received an Award of Merit from the Long Island Biennial. In 2013, she received a residency at The Vermont Studio. Her book The Adventures of Gingerella was published in 2015; she is currently adapting it into an opera. Her new series of paintings is evocative of ancient symbols and mythology inspired by travel to Morocco and India.

Join Ginger Balizer-Hendler for a reception in the Adler Gallery on Saturday, June 4 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Ken Kresge performs the songs of Vin Roddie

On Friday, June 17 at 7:30 p.m., pianist Ken Kresge will perform the songs of Vin Roddie in tribute to this popular local talent.

For many years, Roddie was the main attraction at the piano of several Port Washington venues, notably the Club House and the Waterview Restaurant. Roddie, a classically trained musician, performed arrangements of favorites from the Great American Songbook and his original tunes, frequently joined by some faithful followers.

In the 1950s and '60s, he composed and published many songs, ranging in style from the romantic "We Have A Love" to the humorous "Cuchy Frito Man" to the patriotic "Soviet-American Space Salute."

Born Vincent Rodomista in Far Rockaway, Roddie and his wife moved to Port in 1956. He died on January 16, 2014 at the age of 92.

Join us for a special night of music and Port Washington memories.

SoundSwap welcomes folk duo The Nields

Folk-rock band The Nields formed in 1991. As a five-piece band, they toured much of the United States, performing with artists such as Dar Williams, Moxy Frivious, 10,000 Maniacs, Ani DiFranco and Catie Curtis. Following the dissolution of the band, sisters Katryna and Nerissa Nields have continued to successfully record and tour as a duo.

The Nields' albums are often an eclectic mix of ideas and music styles, but clear themes emerge. Love and China (2002) was about the fragility of love and relationships. The Full Catastrophe (2012) explored the messy experience of raising a family. XVII (2015) has The Nields looking out from midlife, focusing on themes of time, love and community. The primary inspiration behind XVII was Nerissa and Katryna's hero, Pete Seeger.

"As the work of the Everly Brothers or the McGarrigle Sisters has amply demonstrated, there are few sounds as sublime as close harmonies rendered by siblings. In the case of western Massachusetts folk-rockers The Nields, the siblings are sisters Nerissa and Katryna Nields, and their inimitable vocal blend is a disarming mix of clean folk harmonies and clenched Generation-X angst." —Chicago Tribune

Join The Nields for an intimate performance in the Lapham Meeting Room on Friday, June 3 at 7:30 p.m.

SoundSwap is sponsored by the Friends of the Library.

The Long Island Sound Swing Band plays in tribute to Charlie Fertitta

Join the Long Island Sound Swing Band for a rousing tribute to trumpeter Charlie Fertitta on Sunday, June 12 at 3 p.m.

Fertitta, a Port resident for 30 years, died in 2015. As a young trumpet player, he led his own band and continued his interest in later life by participating in several bands, including the Port Washington Community Band and the Pilsner Band, both of which played summer concerts at the Sousa Band Shell.

The Long Island Sound Swing Band, an all-volunteer, not-for-profit organization, is dedicated to the promotion of swing dancing on Long Island, playing your favorite tunes from a bygone era.

UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The upcoming Children's Room renovation will require some reshuffling. Here's your quick guide to what's going where.

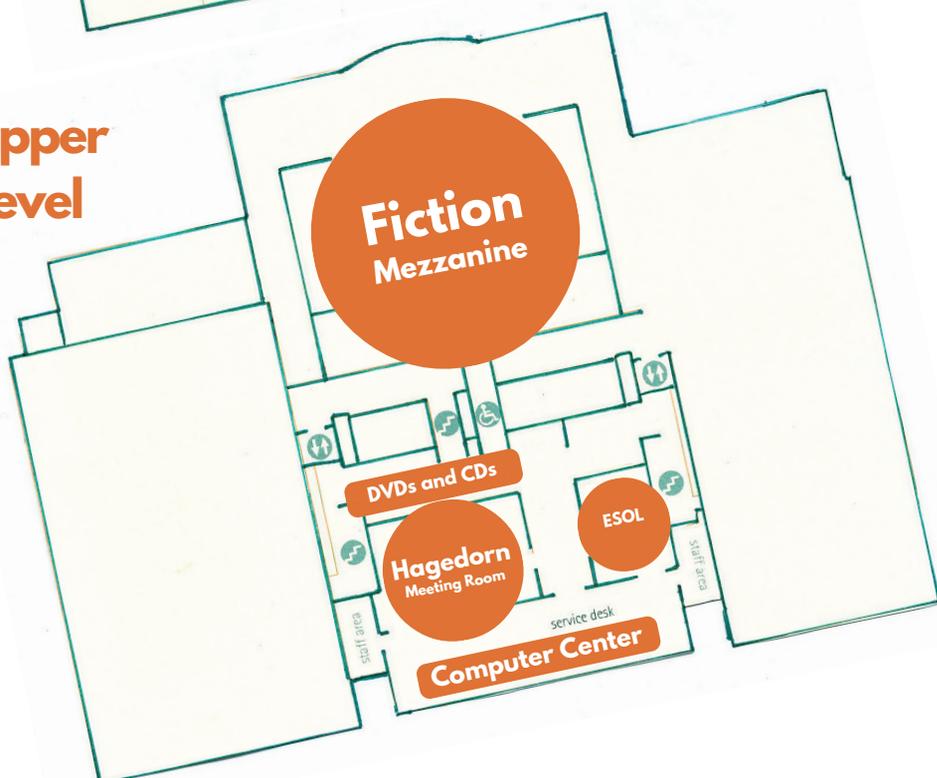

Lobby and Main Level

Lower Level

Upper Level

What construction is being done?

The interior of the Children's Room is being completely rebuilt and transformed into a new, state-of-the-art space to be known as the Jackie and Hal Spielman Children's Library.

When will it happen?

As of this writing (early May 2016), the plan is awaiting final approval from New York State. We anticipate approval in late Spring, at which time we will begin moving materials to their temporary locations.

How long will it take?

From the beginning of construction, we anticipate the project taking nine months to a year to complete.

Will the Library remain open during construction?

Yes, we will maintain regular hours.

Will there be children's books and activities during construction?

Yes, the Children's Room will temporarily relocate to the Media Room, also on the lower level. The bulk of the children's collection will remain available, although the smaller room size will necessitate that a certain percentage be temporarily placed in storage. Children's activities and events will continue, but will be also be somewhat limited due to the reduction in space.

What about the Media Room? Where is that going?

The Media Room contains our DVD, CD and audiobook collections, and previously housed books on related topics, such as film and music. It is also home to the Martin Vogel Photography Gallery.

The books have already been moved to the first floor, and integrated into the non-fiction collection in the North Wing. They are arranged by Dewey Decimal number and may be found in the 780s and 790s.

The audiobook collection will be moved to the south end of the Reading Room, in the shelving which now houses the Science Fiction collection. Science Fiction will be moved up to the mezzanine, where it will be integrated with the general Fiction A-Z collection.

The majority of the DVD and CD collections will be placed in offsite storage for the duration of the project. We will continue to offer new releases, along with a curated selection of catalog titles. As always, requests may be made for loans from other Nassau libraries.

Where will I find the DVDs and CDs that are still available?

In two easily accessible places: the Reading Room and the Community Gallery, which is at the top of the stairs, up one level from the Reading Room and right outside the entrance to the Hagedorn Meeting Room.

New releases and older feature films will be along the north wall of the Reading Room. Additional DVDs such as TV shows and documentaries will be upstairs in the Community Gallery, as will a selection of CDs.

North wall of the Reading Room? Aren't there magazines there now?

Yes, those magazines will be merged with the ones on the south wall, where all the recent magazines and newspapers will be located. Back issues of magazines, as well as all the issues of low-demand titles, will be available on request at the Reference Desk in the South Wing.

Tell me about the galleries. What will be open?

The Karen and Ed Adler Art Gallery on the lower level will continue to display exhibits. The Martin Vogel Photography Gallery in the Media Room will be closed for the duration of the project. The Community Gallery on the upper level is closed and will house DVDs and CDs.

Will the Library be very noisy during construction?

At times, it will likely be noisy. If you need to use the Library under very quiet conditions, please consider visiting in the evening. Also, consider booking a study room. Our two private study rooms are on the upper level, as far removed from the construction site as possible. They may be booked at the Information Desk, or by calling 516-883-4400, ext. 136.

Creative Readers thanks its graduating volunteers

Since the spring of 2012, Creative Readers has brought many special people to the Library on Saturday mornings. An inclusive arts and literacy program which brings books alive through dramatic enactment, music, movement and art, the program matches teen buddies with elementary school students for sessions throughout the school year. Creative Readers is co-sponsored by PWPL and PW SEPTA.

Creative Readers Developer and Program Director Elise May and Administrative Director Ann Marie Fitzpatrick, along with Library Director Nancy Curtin, would like to recognize the dedication of the long-time volunteers who are graduating this June: Juliana D'Alessandro, Eric Fishbin, Rebecca Hirsch, Annie Kline, Adeline Lerner, Emily Polk, Gabrielle Sanft and Benny Schaub.

"Our volunteers extend our reach with their passion and commitment," says Curtin. "Whether to advise, teach or lend a helping hand, we are so lucky to have a reserve of volunteer talent committed to the Library."

May shares, "Our Creative Readers volunteers are fabulous! They train, work hard, face challenges with grace and keep coming back. Some have been with us since the program started. We are so proud of them."

Fitzpatrick agrees, "It has been a wonderful four plus years watching these volunteers mature into adults. These seniors gave up their Saturday mornings to work with their 'buddies.' Their commitment to the program is commendable and they became role models for our new volunteer crew. We will miss them."

A program initially designed to benefit its younger participants, it was quickly realized this was a special program for all involved. In the words of senior Emily Polk, "I thought Creative Readers would be just another bullet to add to my laundry list. Little did I know that my Saturday mornings would become the highlight of my week, and that my experiences and 'buddies' in this program would allow me to grow as a person, and change how I view myself and others."

"On Saturday mornings, these kids are not defined by what they can't do, but rather by their strengths. Creative Readers gives them a platform to break away from their so-called "disability" and express who they truly are."
